Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 18 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly fine at first, rain later. Turning wetter towards midweek.

Today:
Mainly fine during the morning, although southern coastal districts may see the odd shower. Becoming generally cloudier from the west into the afternoon, culminating in occasional rain spreading eastwards. Rather cold throughout, accentuated by the strengthening wind. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Soon becoming generally cloudy wet and windy, although staying relatively mild and frost-free as a result. Rain should become lighter and more intermittent later in the night. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tuesday:
Damp and windy, with coastal gales. Brightest in the morning in the east, with occasional rain tending to become heavier and more widespread later. Mild, but tempered by the wind. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Wet and windy throughout Wednesday, with gales in places. Colder and blustery for a time into Thursday, ahead of a drier, less windy, but much colder end to the week.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.